Mailing lists

$Revision: 598482 $

Table of contents

1 Important Notice................................................................................................................ 2
2 Xindice Users..................................................................................................................... 2
3 Xindice Dev....................................................................................................................... 2
1. Important Notice

Before posting a question or problem to any mailing list, please first look at the following resources:

1. FAQs (1.1, 1.2)
2. Mailing list archives - a veritable goldmine of Xindice-specific information - if you know where to look!

2. Xindice Users

Subscribe Unsubscribe Archives

The general Xindice list, for problems, bug reports, asking for advice on how best use Xindice, comparisons with other XML databases, etc. But don't forget to look in the FAQ first, please!

IMPORTANT: If you are posting about a problem you are having (as most people do), it will aid in finding a speedy resolution if you provide full configuration details (especially the Xindice version number, but also your operating system, JDK version...), and full details of any errors encountered (including full error messages and stack traces).

3. Xindice Dev

Subscribe Unsubscribe Archives

This list is for developers working on or wanting to work on Xindice itself (not developers merely working with Xindice), for code patches to Xindice to be posted (please use diff -u format), and for general Xindice questions.

Note this is NOT for general Xindice questions like "Why isn't Xindice working on my machine?" - please ask those sorts of questions on xindice-users (after reading the FAQ first, of course).